

A vector store is a specialized database used to store and search high-dimensional embeddings. Embeddings are numerical representations of text, generated using models like SentenceTransformers.

Popular vector stores include FAISS, ChromaDB, Pinecone, and Weaviate. These tools allow efficient similarity search for tasks like document retrieval, semantic search, and nearest neighbor queries.